

SKETCHES OF CANDIDATES ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

Glancing at the list of candidates nominated by the Republican county convention, the most casual observer is struck by the fact that they are chosen from the representative business men in the district, every one of whom is directly identified with the growth and development of Tonopah and the county at large. There is no gainsaying this fact. Every man is a man with a record on which he is proud to stand, and not one of them is open to assault.

Thos. Lindsay, nominee for long term county commissioner, is one of the leading business men of the camp, who has done as much for the commercial development and jobbing business of Tonopah as any one engaged in the mercantile business. He represents the firm of McLean & McSweeney, who have been here ever since the camp became known as more than the site of a rush. Mr. Lindsay stands forth as the exemplar of success attained through his individual efforts, and there is not the least doubt that he will give the same attention and derive the same results in directing the affairs of the county as he has succeeded in doing for the firm which he represents. He has been honored by every organization which claims his affiliation, and for personal integrity he is without superior.

Horace Campbell, of the firm of Kelly & Campbell, the owners of the well known Tonopah foundry, scarcely needs a recommendation. His sterling character is known from coast to coast, and the leading mining companies of Nevada show their implicit faith in his constructive genius. When they stand in need of any big work, requiring a master mind to supervise, they first summon Horace Campbell for consultation. It is to the credit of this candidate for the short term county commissionership that when he and his associate took hold of the Tonopah foundry they found a plant run down, without credit or reputation, but by close personal application and unremitting attention to business they brought it out of bankruptcy and placed it at the top of the list of most reliable firms on the Pacific coast. The work of this firm extends as far east as Arizona, where, in competition with big houses of Los Angeles and Denver, Mr. Campbell landed one of the largest milling contracts that employed scores of Tonopah taxpayers for months on a stretch. Nye county requires the genius of just such a man to reconstruct the system of conducting the affairs in which the people are interested and in which they have a right to demand the exercise of the utmost economy and diligence. Mr. Campbell is unknown to politics, which is the best recommendation that can be handed him at this time, when so many professional officeholders are doing their best to persuade the taxpayers to give them one more chance.

Letson Balliet is known around the globe wherever there is a mine hoist. He is the inventive genius who reduced the cost of mine hoisting between 20 and 30 per cent by applying a device that astonishes all observers with the simplicity and economy. For the past seven years he has been conducting the affairs of the Buckeye-Belmont Mining company, and during that time he never missed a payday, levied an assessment or asked a man in Nevada to buy a share of stock. Through his energy and personal following, funds were raised to meet all demands arising from this giant construction, and there is no question that Tonopah owes a debt of gratitude to Balliet for keeping his hoists going when others were deliberating on the expediency of abandoning the camp to its fate. His faith never relaxed and every foot of timbering, every foot of sinking, every foot of progress, either in advancing lateral work or conducting other physical development, is mapped out in the most complete tabular form, so that at a moment's notice he can turn to his books and tell precisely what the cost of work in any given part of the mine was on any day of its operation. He is the apostle of efficiency and a master of executive ability, and it is confidently predicted that when he takes possession of the sheriff's office the cost sheet will show at once a cut of fifty per cent in the overhead charges.

N. K. Franklin, incumbent of the office of county treasurer, came in as an appointive officer and succeeded himself at the last election. He has been given a chance to demonstrate his fitness for the office which he holds and there is no question of the competency displayed during his administration. Hailing from the Manhattan district, he carries with him the best wishes and the most ardent support of the citizens of that camp, who know him as a man capable and trustworthy, who made his mark in the mining game, as one who was not afraid to spend his money where there was chance to bring forth a mine.

Robert G. roni, as county clerk, has carried that office through to its present perfection. He is the old reliable of the courthouse who has been known to get down to work as early as 7 o'clock, when most business men are waking up, and he has been found at his post of duty long into the night, when eight hour workers were enjoying their first slumber. "Bob" Pohl, since the day he came here from Austin, has always been before the public, and whether it was the festive swain who aroused him in the night to issue a marriage license or the business man interested in hunting up almost forgotten facts about the county records, they always found "Bob" obliging and eager to serve.

George Dugan, for county auditor and recorder, makes his bow to the voters as a type of the rising generation, and the impulse of new blood that is going to regenerate local political affairs. George is known to almost every resident of the county as the owner of extensive cattle interests in the Hot Creek district and through his long association with the Tonopah Banking Corporation. He is qualified in every respect for the office to which he aspires and his popularity insures him a heavy vote from his own party and the unattached.

Arthur H. Keenan, for public administrator, brings to the office the experience of a previous term, where in he dispatched his duties to the satisfaction of the public and with the approval of the court which has to pass on all matters pertaining to the office.

MINES IN NORTHWESTERN NYE ARE ALL GETTING OUT ORE

(Special to the Bonanza.)

CLOVERDALE, Nev., Sept. 25.—With the white metal slowly but steadily rising, the section around Red Springs, in the northwestern part of Nye county, is experiencing a regular boom, and several properties are making good. In Republic, the Rosalie Mining company has shipped a carload of good ore and is starting extensive development by going into the old shaft 400 to 500 feet, or at least to water level. They have some very good ore and the main effort will be to get down to the sulphide zone. Maurice Downey, the superintendent, is pushing the work with zeal.

Highland & Dickerson shipped a carload from their property, where they had reached a depth of 200 feet before striking water.

Sparks, a few miles south of the Orizaba, shipped a carload of good ore taken out through the efforts of three leasers.

The Copper Contact started last week with three men. Mrs. Wigstead and McLean & McLeod expect to begin development on their gold property a mile and a half south of the Orizaba.

At the Orizaba the efforts of a large force of men for the past three months is shown by thousands of tons of ore blocked out. During this development the management saved plenty of highgrade, which was shipped to Millers, the truck making daily trips. This property will undoubtedly prove a great mine as soon as the shaft is sunk deeper. There is one ore shoot explored for over 170 feet just above the water level with a pure sulphide ore ranging from 4 to 8 feet wide and none of Frank J. Cavanaugh, for justice of the peace, has been a resident of Tonopah for the past five years, during which he has made numerous friendships of a permanent character. He has been active in public matters, taking the lead in Memorial day arrangements and always showing an active interest in everything pertaining to the welfare of the camp.

William B. Evans is too well known to need more than passing comment, since his incumbency of the office of constable has kept him in the limelight.

the walls in sight. This ore runs several hundred ounces in silver. When the shaft is sunk another 100 feet and this orebody tapped, it ought to prove the real merit of the whole district, which needs capital to develop it. The future certainly will open some great mines in this district, which is well mineralized for miles. Just a few thousand feet from the main workings of the Orizaba, Mr. Smith is opening some promising silver properties containing silver and lead. The vein is traceable for over 4000 feet on the surface and in several places on the ledge ore was opened running from 15 to 30 ounces in silver and from 15 to 40 per cent lead.
